

The Impact on Shoes Used Leather Hygiene Performance of the Vamp of the Lining Cloth

Yue Zhou^{1,}, Shaolan Ding², Huiying Xi³*

¹ College of Resource and Environment, Shanxi University of Science and Technology, Xi'an 710021, Shanxi, P. R. China

² College of Resource and Environment, Shanxi University of Science and Technology, Xi'an 710021, Shanxi, P. R. China

³ College of Resource and Environment, Shanxi University of Science and Technology, Xi'an 710021, Shanxi, P. R. China

*Corresponding author. Phone: +86-(0)29-86168291. E-mail: zhouyue@sust.edu.cn

Abstract: The impact on shoes used leather hygiene performance of the vamp of the lining cloth is this subject mainly researched, and hygiene performance of leather is got by air permeability, water vapor permeability two indexes signify completely. The phenomenon that the lining cloth matches to make the hygiene performance of the leather improved to some extent with the cow hide, sheepskin is founded by the experiment and data analysis. It is obvious that, the application while the leather shoes are made of the lining cloth is not only playing a role in supporting, finalizing the design, but also play a certain role to the improvement of the hygiene performance of the leather shoes.

Key words: lining cloth; air permeability; water vapor permeability; hygiene performance